Biosynthesis as a therapy of the future is working with the principle of unfolding latent potential: when resources are strengthened, problems become smaller. Since thirty years Biosynthesis has developed a model of integration of body mind and spirit. Scientific researches in neurobiology, psycho-neuro-immunology and energetic medicine now support this integration in different ways. Healing in Biosynthesis becomes a vital bridge between essence and existence, soul and soma, inner and outer ground.

We welcome you to our 4th International Congress.

David Boadella and Silvia Specht Boadella
